

STRIKE

Of Newark Street Car Motormen and Conductors.

ONLY ONE CAR MOVED SINCE NINE O'CLOCK

Men Took Motors to Barn Surrendered Property and Quit Work--Demand an Increase in Salary and Shorter Hours--Proposition Submitted to the Company--National Officer Is Here.

At 9 o'clock this morning the motormen and conductors on the Newark & Granville electric railway including the city lines and the road between and Granville, went out on a strike.

When the strike was ordered the men ran their cars into the barn, turned in the money and other company property, and marched down town in a body and repaired to Labor Hall, where they were met by Mr. Reason Orr, treasurer of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway employees of America, who had been sent from Detroit headquarters and has been here since last Monday.

The session was held behind closed doors and was strictly secret. The men absolutely refuse to talk about the situation.

Mr. Orr gave an Advocate reporter an outline of the circumstances leading up to the present crisis, as follows:

The local union of the Amalgamated Association, was organized December 10, 1900, and is officered as follows:

President, Guy V. Holler.
Vice President, H. G. Mitchell.
Rec. Sec., John Carter.
Secretary, Wm. Lavin.
Treasurer, E. G. Baker.

The union sometime ago reported to headquarters the condition of things in Newark and being unable to settle the matter, asked that some one be sent here and Mr. Orr was sent.

Previous to getting here, the president recommended that communication be had with the Trades Council, which was done. The Trades Council took the matter up, and an arbitration committee was appointed, who, with Mr. Orr, went on Tuesday to the company's office, with a proposition to arbitrate the matter.

Secretary Schinnick told them that he had nothing to do with granting arbitration, or not doing so.

The proposition was left at the company's office and 24 hours were given after it reached the main office, in which to reply. The proposition was ignored and this morning the local committee of street car men met Mr. Orr at his hotel and the decision was made to call the men off which was done.

The wages paid in Newark are $1.35 per day for conductors and $1.50 for motormen for 12 hours' work.

The following list of towns with the number of hours the men work and the wages paid per hour, was furnished the Advocate by Mr. Orr. Many of the cities are smaller than Newark.

The first figures given are the number of hours per day and the second the wages paid per hour.

Mr. Orr said: "The above wages and hours have all been secured since the men organized, and these are only a few of the many cities in which our organization has changed conditions late who has reported ten minutes or more before starting time.

10. That the rights of all employees not specified in this agreement such as barn-men, track-men, repairers and all other employees, members of our association, shall have their respective rights in accordance with their age in the service of the company, and any grievance or petitions concerning them will be heard and adjusted through the regular committee of our association.

11. That these requests shall be formulated into a contract and agreement and be binding upon the respective parties hereto for the period of one year from this day of — 1901.

Respectfully submitted,
GUY V. HOLLAR, Pres.
William Lavin,
John Evans,
D. Preston,

Committee.
Our committee had one meeting with Supt. Scheidler, but were finally informed that he did not have power to adjust the same with us; and we asked him to send the proposition to Mr. Wright, which he says he did on July 22. We have patiently waited for an answer since that time. We have sent two telegrams to Mr. Wright, but have received no reply. We finally informed our international president of the affair, and he advised us to report to the Trades and Labor Council, which we did, and the arbitration committee of that body, in conjunction with our international treasurer, Mr. R. Orr, have tried to get an answer by telegraphing Mr. Raymond at Wheeling, but to no avail.

On July 31 we offered the following proposition which has been unanswered. Having exhausted all possible means to get our differences adjusted and waiting until 9 o'clock today, we decided to stop work until we can get a hearing, and our grievances adjusted which we believe to be just.

To the Officers and Manager of the Newark & Granville Electric Street Railway Company:

Having submitted a proposition for an agreement on July 22d, and also three telegrams asking for a reply to such proposition, and receiving no reply whatever, we take it for granted that our proposition is refused; therefore wishing to be fair at all times, we hereby offer to submit the entire matter with reference to the differences between your company and your employees, to a committee to be chosen, one by the company, one by the organization, these two to choose the third, their decision in the matter to be final and binding on both parties. We will wait twenty-four hours from time of filing this compromise offer for a reply.

JOHN CARTER,
J. M. LEHMAN,
J. I. DUNN,

Committee.
James Murphy,
Chairman Arbitration Committee, of Trades and Labor Council.

The Advocate asked Secretary Shinnick for a statement from the railway company early this afternoon but Mr. Shinnick replied that the company at that time had nothing to say for publication.

This afternoon Conductor Van Kirk and Motorman Richards of the Granville run, took out their car from the barn where they had put it this morning in accordance with the strike order, after the 10 o'clock run, when they brought the mail from Granville. They went to Granville at 2:30 o'clock.

The men are members of the local union, and their action is a mystery to the other strikers. The car on the 2:30 run had on the mail for Granville and also carried passengers. The car was conspicuously labeled.

"U. S. MAIL."

Guy V. Holler, president of the local union in discussing the action of Van Kirk and Richards said:

"It is unexplainable to me. I knew nothing of it until I saw the car start out. They are members of this union, and are oath bound to stay with us. 'You bet the boys are sore', but as the action of the union in expelling them, I do not wish to talk.

"Their excuse will probably be that they had to carry the United States mail, but such is no excuse at all. They are not under bond to deliver the mail, and if it is not delivered the government will look to the street car company and not to the employees.

"Why, at the time of the high waters when the car to Granville could not carry the mail, the company had

A PAIR OF REMARKABLE BOYS.

One of the Little Tots Weighs Only a Pound and Twelve Ounces, While His Brother Tips the Scales at Two Pounds Twelve Ounces.—They are Perfectly Formed.—Babies are Slowly Dying it is Feared.

New York, Aug. 2.—Jos. Cuneo and his wife Teresa are the parents of a remarkable pair of boy twins. They are said to be the smallest children ever born in New York, and now are fifteen days old. They weigh one pound twelve ounces and two pounds twelve ounces respectively, and scarcely measure 12 inches in length. They are perfectly formed. The little ones have been slowly dying since the day of their birth. A step has been taken, however, which may result in saving their lives. The infants were placed in a clothes basket last evening and taken to Buffalo by a trained nurse, under the direction of Dr. Solomon Fische, of the Berlin Institute, who is in charge of the Zabata company's exhibit at the Pan American exposition. Upon their arrival there the twins will be put in an incubator which is being exhibited at the exposition.

HUGE GIRDER

Toppled From Seventh Floor Carrying Down Two Men to Their Death at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 2.—The new brick building, occupying a square of Grant street, has had two more deaths laid at its door. At 11:30 this morning a huge girder being placed in position on the seventh floor, toppled downward, dragging two men with it to their death. They are Wm. Wilson of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Jesse Wilson, 32 years old, of Wylie avenue.

Attacks Christian Science.

Boston, Aug. 2.—Frederick Peabody, who recently appeared in court against Mrs. Eddy, the head of the Christian Science, made a fierce attack upon her in a public lecture last night. He said Christian Science is the "crowning humbug and imposition of age" and that the "pernicious work of Christian Science is disrupting homes all over the land and sacrificing lives of innocent, sick children."

Crispi's Condition.

Naples, Aug. 2.—Signor Crispi, the Italian statesman, who has been ill for some weeks, is reported to be in a precarious condition today. His legs are paralyzed and his hands nearly so. The government has ordered that Signor Crispi's papers and property be sealed immediately after his death.

Cullom at Canton.

Canton, Aug. 2.—Senator Cullom of Illinois, is the guest of President McKinley today and will be joined later here by Senator Hanna. He has come to discuss legislative matters to come up at the next term of congress. He says most important legislation will be in regard to colonies. He says the Democrats are likely to cause trouble in regard to Cuba, and he does not want to see radical changes made in the tariff law.

PROPOSED FRANCHISE FOR ELECTRIC LINE.

Columbus, O. Aug. 2.—The county commissioners had the subject of the franchise for the Columbus, Newark & Eastern Traction Company up Thursday. Last week they gave this company a franchise, conditioned on the prosecuting attorney approving the form. Thursday morning Prosecutor Weber's objections were taken up. Prosecuting Attorney Huling appeared for the company, and Mr. Paul Jones for the Newark & Granville Traction company. Attorney Fred M. Black of Newark, and an attorney named Russell, of Wheeling, were also present for the Newark company, and W. S. Wright, president of the Newark & Granville line.

The franchise granted was to Cleveland parties. H. E. Young, Democratic candidate for clerk of the supreme court, represented these parties. It came out who the Cleveland parties are. This appeared through a resolution endorsing any act performed by Mr. Young. The resolutions are signed by R. H. York, president of the company, and R. C. Collins, secretary. Mr. York is connected with the Park bank of Cleveland, and is also a stockbroker. Mr. Collins is his confidential clerk.

Assistant Prosecutor Seymore was present in behalf of the county. He objected to the form of the franchise. After listening to a good deal of talk the commissioners postponed passing on the matter until today.

A BRIDE DANCED TO HER DEATH.

She Had Ninety-Four Partners at the Wedding Festivities Resulting in Sudden Fatality.

McKeesport, Pa., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Anna Brudowicz, aged 22 years, a bride of 24 hours, danced herself to death at her wedding feast here. Mrs. Brudowicz was married to John Brudowicz, one of the leaders in the Polish settlement of McKeesport. It is customary at these celebrations for every male guest to dance with the bride, which honor costs the guest a dollar for the expense of the celebration and to help the newly married pair to start housekeeping.

Mrs. Brudowicz had finished the ninety-fourth round of the room with as many different guests when the company was called to supper. The bride complained of feeling sick and almost immediately dropped over in a faint and died before medical assistance could be summoned.

CONVICTED

Of Receiving Money from a Disorderly House—Important Witness Has a Mysterious Death.

New York, Aug. 2.—George Bissert, precinct detective, was convicted last night of receiving $500 from a disorderly house. This makes him liable to ten years' imprisonment and a $5,000 fine. This is regarded as a triumph for the reform element. Many think however, that Bissert will escape. Ex-Chief Devery was once convicted of the same crime but is still on the police force. Patrolman Peter W. Yunge, who secured important evidence that led to Bissert's conviction, died of injuries received in some mysterious manner last night. The police say he fell in a fit, but his friends have demanded an investigation. They are inclined to believe that he met with foul play. It is said that Yunge made himself unpopular with some of the fellow officers by his activity in securing evidence against Bissert.

Four Drowned.

Central City, W. Va., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Fannie Hamming, aged 45, her daughter Kathleen, aged 14 and two grand children, a boy and a girl, were drowned while boating at Canapake Landing last night. They were near the Ohio shore when the boat struck a log and the waves swamped the boat.

NEW NOTHING OF IT.

Akron, O., Aug. 2.—The police and bankers here say they know nothing of the alleged arrest in Goshen, Ind., of the Akron bank robbers with $15,000 in their possession.

A CRISIS

In the Strike of the Steel Workers Seems At Hand.

EITHER WAR TO A FINISH OR BACKDOWN

The Strike Will Be of a Magnitude Startling to the Industrial World or a Clear Back-down by Amalgamated Association—Steel Trust Will "Parley" No Further.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 2.—(Bulletin)—Indications are now that it is either a general strike and war to a finish or a clear case of backdown on the part of the Amalgamated Association.

The Amalgamated at the meeting of the general executive committee today, will have a weighty question to decide. It is whether the union shall unconditionally bow to terms of Morgan or extend the steel strike in all possible directions in an effort to fight the trust to a standstill.

The reports of the exact situation are conflicting. In one quarter this morning it was stated that President Shaffer was in high spirits, indicating he had achieved some gain for the men. On the other hand good authorities agree that the committee has had an answer from Morgan which is a direct refusal to grant better terms or even allow a conference.

Each time the Wall street King speaks it seems his terms grow harder. It is his way of conquering the iron and steel workers. Just that method was never tried before in the history of unionism. How it will succeed is the question. The outlook is grave and today's developments must be important.

The officials of the Amalgamated association were in consultation during the morning with Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, for his advice. The moral and financial support of the vast army of workers belonging to that organization is desired before a decisive move is made. Heretofore the federation has promised the Amalgamated Association its support and the conference of today was presumably to find out if the federation will sustain the steel trust whose magnitude is shown by these figures: It makes 90 per cent of the coke in the United States; it makes 75 per cent of the coarse sizes of steel billets, etc.; 75 per cent of the rails; 90 per cent of street rail road rails; 85 per cent of plates and 90 per cent of the wire. Its pay roll is $300,000 per day. It makes all the sheet steel and practically all the tin plate in the United States.

Either General Strike or Backdown.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 2.—It is either a strike of a magnitude that will startle the industrial world or a back down. As far as the U. S. steel trust is concerned, it will refuse to further discuss the situation.

Joseph E. Schwab, assistant to President Schwab is quoted as saying:

"The U. S. steel corporation has practically washed its hands of the whole affair. There is no use in parleying any further as President Shaffer and Secretary Williams have failed to deliver the goods they promised at the conference in New York. It is now for the Amalgamated to do as it pleases."

In view of these statements the crisis in the strained situation is closed at hand.

Pittsburg, Aug. 2.—The Amalgamated conference adjourned Thursday at 5 o'clock to meet again in the morning at 10 o'clock. It is claimed that the Amalgamated executive board received by telegraph a flat refusal from J. P. Morgan to reopen the wage conference where it was broken off at the Hotel Lincoln nearly three weeks ago. The powers of the steel combine insist that the only basis of settlement will be on the terms which President C. M. Schwab and Chairman Elbert H. Gray laid down at the meeting with the Amalgamated officers in New York last Saturday. There is scarcely a fragment of a hope that the Amalgamated association will back down from its well known position. The leaders of the workers will, in reply, outline their plans to the steel corporation for a continuation of the great struggle, to include the stopping of every wheel possible in the works of the combine and the extension of the strike in all possible directions by the Amalgamated association.

SMALLPOX.

Ohio Had Over 3000 Cases—Health Board Says that Better Water Is Needed.

Columbus, O., Aug. 2.—The annual report of the state board of health, made today, shows that Ohio had 3,229 cases of smallpox during the year, Cleveland heading the list with 992 cases and 16 deaths. Mention is made of the following cities whose water supply should be purified: Cleveland, Conneaut, Ashtabula, East Cleveland, Lakewood, Lorain, Lakeside and Port Clinton. East Liverpool, Wellsville, Toronto, Steubenville, Cincinnati and other cities on the Ohio river, Cambridge, Beamsville, Uniontown, Zanesville, Burgin, Upper Sandusky, Defiance, Findlay, Napoleon, Toledo, Alliance, Fosteria, Lisbon, Monroeville, Newark, Oberlin, Warren, Wellston and Youngstown on interior streams.

TOM JOHNSON

Gives Out His Views as to Acquisition of Wealth and Railroad Taxation.

New York, Aug. 2.—In an interview today Tom L. Johnson said the law should not permit such cornering of money as the acquisition of billion dollars with which John D. Rockefeller is credited. He says railroad control is getting nearer to one man power and when the railroad trust is fully formed it will say to the farmers and manufacturers "you shall market only so much and no more. Johnson says one of the strongest planks in the Democratic platform at the next national election will be for the reappraisal of all steam railway properties.

Sham Battle.

The most interesting maneuver yet made in camp at the State Grounds, was a sham battle by the battalion, this morning.

Company C went ahead with two signal corps men in the rear and marched two miles to the Granville road and ambushed themselves.

Company A and B followed in short minutes, two signal corps men in advance. A skirmish line was thrown out and the signal corps located Company C in time to prevent an ambush. In the sham battle Co. C won.

NEW GERMAN TARIFF.

The Berlin Post interprets the eighth section of the ministerial German tariff bill as directed against the United States. That is the section which provides for double duties on dutiable goods coming from countries which discriminate against German goods or ships and for duties up to half their value on free goods coming from such countries. The Post says that this section "gives us the means to protect ourselves against the high-handed manner in which the United States interpret reciprocity. We expect German manufacturers to agree thereto since many have suffered from the supercilious morality of American tariff treatment." This comment suggests that while in the main the bill was intended to meet the demands of the agrarians for more protection on food products the eighth section was adroitly introduced to secure the support of German manufacturers for the entire bill. Undoubtedly the Post rightly assumes that the section is directed mainly at the United States.

A HANNA SIDE-SHOW.

There was a very foolish proceeding in Columbus, O., yesterday in the holding of a state convention to promote the cause of free silver, the few present being dissatisfied with the action of the Democratic state convention in shelving the silver issue and its alleged insults to Mr. Bryan. It is true the silver question was treated as a dead issue, but there were no insults to Mr. Bryan. The Columbus conference, composed of half a dozen persons, resolved that a full State ticket should be nominated in the name of free silver and Mr. Bryan, who, it is needless to say, repudiates the movement as silly and uncalled for. There is a suspicion of Mark Hanna encouragement about it.

The British War Office has increased the rates of pensions and allowances to the widows and orphans of soldiers killed in action or dying of wounds in South Africa.

LONG OR SAMPSON?

The purpose of the Maryland delegation in Congress to insist upon a congressional investigation of the navy department is to be commended.

Secretary Long and his little coterie of favorites, including Sampson, Crowninshield, Mahan and Maclay, merit a searching inquiry. They have managed at last to put Admiral Schley on the defensive. Every one of them deserves to be in that position himself. One matter which Mr. Long and his absurd board of strategy should be compelled to explain is this: Why did they and Admiral Sampson keep the American squadron outside of Santiago harbor for weeks when it might have entered and destroyed the Spanish ships and captured the city? Was it cowardice? If so, what were they afraid of?

Another matter is this: Why was the Merrimac sunk at the mouth of Santiago harbor? Were Mr. Long and his strategists and Admiral Sampson afraid to meet the Spaniards in a fair fight in the harbor or on the sea? What else did the Merrimac fiasco signify? If it had succeeded and Cervera had been unable to leave his retreat and Sampson had been unable to enter the harbor would that have been the idea of glory that obtains in the navy department at this time?

These considerations have nothing to do with the case of Admiral Schley. They concern only the secretary of the navy and the men like Sampson, Crowninshield, and Mahan, his favorites and advisers. These officials refused to enter the harbor of Santiago as Admiral Dewey entered the harbor of Manila, for the reason, as was claimed, that its channel was heavily fortified. As a matter of fact, it did not mount a gun that could have harmed a battleship. The terrible Spanish land armament was a nightmare merely. It was conjured up in the mind of some coward.

Now, who was that coward? Was he Secretary Long or was he Admiral Sampson? Who was it that failed to do at Santiago what Dewey did at Manila? Who lost the opportunity to go into the harbor and repeat on this hemisphere the daring and brilliant exploit which on the other gave Dewey undying fame?

Long or Sampson? One or the other! There is no escape from it. Congress alone can settle this question, and it ought to be settled right away.

AN HONEST REPUBLICAN VIEW.

Hon. I. F. Mack of the Sandusky Register, one of the best known and ablest Republican editors of Ohio, makes a fair and truthful statement regarding the farcical bolt of alleged Bryan Democrats in this campaign. Mr. Mack says:

"The Republican papers that talk of a bolt among the Democrats and a Bryan convention to nominate a Bryan Democrat for governor may think that some of their readers will believe them to be in earnest, but the editors who publish such stuff know that their talk is all moonshine.

"The Democrats of Ohio are in the fight to win, and they will keep it hot for the Republican managers from now on until the polls close. If the latter win they will not do so by a split in the Democratic ranks. We have never known them to be more united in this section or more hopeful of victory. So if we may judge of the situation throughout the state there is no indication of internal eruption in the Democratic party of Ohio this year. Of course, there are rumors of disturbances, but like the old time milk sickness, the disturbances are in the adjoining county and finally are in the minds of sensational mongers and never materialize."

Behind Our Fan.

The Newark Advocate, edited by Joseph H. Newton, came out last Wednesday increased in size and printed on a new and specially made Cox web press, one of the fastest and best newspaper presses now on the market. The Weekly Advocate was established in 1820 and the daily in 1882. Its success is marked and was procured by good management and hard work. It is now one of the newest inland dailies of Ohio, is a credit to the brains and capital back of it, and an honor to the people who support it. The true secret of its great success is told in these few lines: Like the Democrat it champions right and deprecates wrong, pleads the cause of the suppressed, and especially prints all the news without fear or favor, and represents the whole people and not a class or clique.—Holmes County Democrat.

Last week the Newark Advocate came out in a new dress printed on a new fine Cox web perfecting press. The Weekly Advocate was first issued in 1820 and the daily in 1882, since which time both have steadily advanced until they are now among the best daily and weekly publications in Ohio. The papers are Democratic and will make a vigorous fight for the election of Colonel Kilbourne for governor and the whole Democratic ticket. We congratulate the Advocate on its enterprise.—Marysville, O., Journal.

The Newark Daily Advocate came to us on Wednesday of last week enlarged to a seven column quarto and otherwise greatly improved, having just put into operation a new perfecting press. We are glad to see this evidence of our esteemed contemporary's prosperity, and feel sure that Bro. Newton will use his increased facilities to throw more hot shot into the ranks of the enemy.—Lancaster Democrat.

The Newark Advocate is one of the best printed and newest daily papers in Ohio and up-to-date in every respect. This is partly accounted for by the fact that last week The Advocate added to its equipment one of the latest improved Cox Duplex Perfecting Web Presses, which enables them to print from a single roll with each revolution a complete paper. With their new Linotype machines there is no better equipped newspaper plant in any inland city in Ohio.—Holmes County Farmer.

The Newark Daily Advocate has been enlarged from a six-column to a seven-column quarto and is being printed on a new Cox Duplex press. The Advocate prints all the news, is ably edited and neatly printed, and bears many substantial evidences of the prosperity and popularity which it enjoys and merits.—Centerburg, O., Gazette.

The Newark Advocate is showing commendable enterprise in installing a new Cox web press, which prints from a roll of paper 6,000 perfected papers an hour. The Advocate has all the facilities of a metropolitan plant, and it is to be congratulated for its enterprise.—Pataskala, Ohio, Standard.

It Takes a Remedy of Uncommon Merit to Draw the Unqualified Praise of a Successful Practicing Physician.

Dr. J. W. Bates of Corfu, N. Y., states: "A most remarkable case has come under my hands of late and has fully convinced me of the wonderful power of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills over diseases of the nerves."

"A young lady who was treated for over two years for epilepsy by two doctors was given up to die. I found that her sickness was not epilepsy, but nervous troubles, due to menstrual derangements, and prescribed four of Dr. Chase's Nerve Pills a day, after meals and at bed-time. Since that time she has been a single bad spell. Her hair has rapidly increased, she has gained about 15 pounds in weight, and I do not hesitate to state that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills have saved her life and restored her to health."

Mrs. Fawcett of Marietta St., St. Clairsville, O., says: "I have used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, and can recommend them to others as a good sound reliable nerve and general tonic. When I got the box of the Pills I was complaining of nervousness, weakness and pain through the shoulders, rheumatic in type—digestion not over good as usual. The effect of the medicine has been very satisfactory indeed. So marked has been the change towards health and comfort I can conscientiously say they are fine and what they are represented to be. At my advanced age I feel I am getting all the benefit possible."

Mrs. M. J. Hubbard of Railroad Avenue, Sistersville, W. Va., says: "I like Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. I was nervous, excitable, unable to sleep, I had not taken the medicine long when my nerves were steady and strong—my physical strength and energy back and my sleep sound and natural."

See that the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase are on every box. Price 50 cents a box—Six boxes for $2.50. Manufactured by the Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Skin Diseases

ECZEMA, TETTER, PSORIASIS, SALT RHEUM, ACNE and a great many other diseases of like character are classed as skin diseases, when they could just as properly be called blood diseases, for they undoubtedly originate in the blood, like Cancer, Catarrh, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, etc.; the only real difference being in the intensity and nature of the poison. The more serious diseases, Cancer, Catarrh, etc., are caused by some specific poison or virus, which is either inherited or in other ways gets into the blood and attacks certain vital organs or appears in the form of terrible sores and ulcers, while the milder and less dangerous skin diseases are caused by blood humors or an over acid condition of that fluid. These acid poisons, as they ooze out through the pores of the skin, cause great irritation, with intense itching and burning. The eruption may be of a pustular kind, with excessive discharge of thick, gummy fluid, or the skin may be hot, dry and feverish, swollen and fissured. Skin diseases, whether they appear as sores, blotches or pimples, become more deeply rooted and intractable the longer neglected, the skin in time having a thick, hard, rough and unsightly appearance. You can hide the blemishes for a time with cosmetics, and washes, lotions, soaps and powders may relieve temporarily the itching and burning, but eventually the pores of the skin become so clogged up by this treatment that the poisonous matter thrown off by the blood cannot pass out of the system, and settles on the lungs, heart or some other vital organ and endangers life.

To purify and build up the polluted blood is the right treatment for skin diseases, and for this purpose no other medicine is so deservedly popular as S. S. S. It is a perfect antidote for all blood humors, and when taken into the circulation, gently but thoroughly eliminates all impurities and puts the blood in a healthy, normal state. The skin can't remain in an irritated, diseased condition when nourished with rich, new blood. S. S. S. is the only guaranteed purely vegetable remedy, and the safest and best skin beautifier. Write our physicians if you have any blood or skin disease, and they will cheerfully advise you without charge.

MOB COULDN'T WAIT.

Turned Deaf Ears to Reason and Wreaked Its Vengeance.

OPERATIONS OF THE LAW TOO SLOW.

Three Negroes, Two of Whom Were Women, Taken From Jail at Carrollton, Miss., and Lynched—Governor Longino Hastened to the Scene but Arrived Too Late.

Carrollton, Miss., Aug. 2.—The brutal murder of Mr. and Mrs. Tallaferra the night of July 30 led to the lynching of Betsy McCray, her son, Belfield McCray and daughter, Ida McCray, all colored, who were remanded to jail by the coroner's jury which investigated the murder.

The mob resisted the earnest appeals of Judge W. F. Stephens and Hon. W. S. Hill, who stood on the steps of the jail and appealed to the mob in the name of law and order. They even followed the mob to the cell doors with their arms around the necks of the leaders, pleading with them to let the law take its course, but with no effect.

Ida McCray confessed to the knowledge of the murder, and stated that her mother, Betsy, and her brother, Belfield, helped commit the murder. She further implicated others, who will probably make a like fate. Betsy McCray refused to make any statement.

The mob was composed of about 500 white citizens of Carroll county, who marched to the jail in order, demanded the keys from Jailer Duke, proceeded to the cells of the unfortunate negroes, bound them by the neck and hands and carried them to the corporate limits of the town, where they hanged them to a tree by the public road and riddled them with bullets.

Governor A. H. Longino arrived on the scene by special train from Jackson a few minutes after the hanging. He addressed a large and attentive audience at the courthouse, impressing upon them the duty of their citizenship and urging strict obedience to law and order.

Failures For July.

New York, Aug. 2.—Reports to R. G. Dun & Company show commercial failures in the United States during July 1901, with an aggregate indebtedness of $7,035,933. Same month last year 793 failures for $9,771,775. The decrease occurred principally in the manufacturing class, last month's insolvencies numbering 153 for $3,240, 128, against 183 last year owing $5,177,652. Canadian failures numbered 85 with liabilities of $455,233, of which 13 were in manufacturing for $84,836, and 70 in trading for $320,347.

Railroad to Red Sea.

London, Aug. 2.—Lord Cromer, British diplomatic agent in Egypt, in a minute attached to a report of Sir William E. Garsten, under secretary of state for public works in Egypt, dealing with irrigation projects along the upper Nile, supports a suggestion that a railway should be built from Khartoum to the Red sea rather than irrigation works.

Robbers Disgorged.

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 2.—Private detectives employed by an Akron (O.) banking institution made an important arrest in a local gambling den, which resulted in recovering about $16,000 in currency and gold coin. The two men who were captured were suspected of having rifled a vault in the Akron bank 10 days ago and had since been shadowed. The men, who are said to be residents of Elkhart county, were taken completely by surprise, and were hustled to Elkhart, where the booty was believed to have been secreted. The bank directors, from fear of a panic, did not make the loss publicly known. At Elkhart the robbers led the way to the outskirts of the city, where they had buried their plunder. The money was recovered and every dollar was accounted for. The detectives and robbers later left for Akron. The assistance of the local authorities was not asked.

Union Men Complain to McKinley.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 2.—The Tacoma Machinists' union sent the following telegram to President McKinley: "Moran Brothers at Seattle, with a strike on involving all iron workers, have been awarded a government contract, while men on the government work at Bremerton have been laid off on account of lack of work. A member of the Metal Trades association here made a statement before witnesses that the association has influence with the administration and that influence has brought about the change in plans."

Killed by Lightning.

Mississippi City, Aug. 2.—Captain John Astredo and M. D. Hooker, a traveling salesman of New Orleans, were instantly killed by lightning at the home of Captain Astredo. They were in the summer house, situated in a clump of trees in the yard, seated on opposite sides of a table, when struck. The bolt seemed to come from a cloudless sky, as the sun was shining brightly, but after the crash a small harmless looking cloud was seen. There was no mark of violence on the person of Mr. Hooker.

No Deficit For July.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The monthly comparative statement of government receipts and expenditures shows that receipts for July amounted to $52,320, 340 and expenditures $52,307,550, which leaves a surplus for the month of $12,750, as against a deficit for July, 1900, of $4,999,090.

This is the season of the year when all who can do so endeavor to take a short vacation, and considerable thought is devoted to determining where that vacation shall be spent. This is a parallel case, and these men will suffer for it."

At 3:15 p. m. the company announced that the Granville car will run on scheduled time. No further statement was made.

A meeting of the strikers is being held this afternoon, and up to press time nothing had been done that was given out for publication.

The Methodist Sunday school picnic at the camp grounds was abandoned on account of the strike.

The park is also badly crippled by reason of the strike.

Mr. Schinick said this afternoon, "There is nothing to say; we are just sawing wood."

The city line is completely tied up.

on the hurt spot. It will cool and soothe the wound right away and stop the pain, too. In a few days it will be all right again. There won't be any scar, either.

CLYDESDALE OINTMENT is nature's cure for hurts of all kinds. It was discovered many years ago by Hugh Clydesdale, a Gypsy, who later became a famous surgeon. It is not a cure-all, but it does cure all wounds, pains and cuts. Cheaper and safer than to let it cure itself. Price 25 cts. per jar, at all dealers.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Resigns to Run For Senate.
Charles G. Dawes has tendered to the president his resignation as comptroller of the currency, to take effect on Oct. 1 next. Mr. Dawes is ambitious to represent Illinois in the United States senate and will be a candidate before the state legislature which is to select a successor to Senator Mason. Unlike some men in public life, Mr. Dawes doesn't think it would be in accordance with the proprieties for him to hold his present office while conducting a campaign for the senate.

Mr. Dawes entered the office of comptroller of the currency on Jan. 1, 1898, succeeding James H. Eckels.

England's Oldest Scientist.

One of the most interesting of our surviving men of science, says the London Daily Telegraph, is James Glaisher, F. R. S., who recently entered upon his ninety-third year. Many people think of the veteran meteorologist only as an aeronaut on account of that memorable and unparalleled ascent which he and Mr. Coxwell made nearly 40 years ago. But Mr. Glaisher is not an aeronaut, though he has made some 30 ascents skyward for scientific purposes. He is a meteorologist, astronomer and mathematician and a fine sample of what a vigorous mind in a sound body can do, hale and hearty at over 92. When he and Coxwell did their seven miles rise into the empyrean and he floated and the aeronaut only saved both of them by gripping the valve rope with his teeth, his hands being numb and powerless, the world was greatly moved with admiration. At the meeting of the British association the next year, 1863, Professor Owen made a noteworthy statement. "Physiologists," he said, "were all agreed that one condition of longevity was the capacity of the chest, and therefore he hoped the increased breathing capacity acquired by Mr. Glaisher and Mr. Coxwell would tend to the prolongation of their lives." The kindly wish was prophetic. Coxwell died in January, 1900, in his eightieth year. Glaisher still survives and is 92.

Haby's Presumption.

Francis Haby, who became famous through his invention of the fierce upturned mustache which Emperor William has for some time affected, is today a rich man, for at one time all the young officers of the kingdom with proper pride about them used to rush to his establishment in Berlin to be "fixed up" a l'empereur. Haby's dismissal from the emperor's service is said to have been due to his presumption. Feeling secure in his position, one day he jocularly inquired of his majesty, "Well, what do you think about the Chinese situation?" This was too much for the German kaiser, and Haby was banished from the court.

Gone to Hunt the Peary.

The Peary relief expedition will sail in the steamship Erik from Sidney, C. B., and endeavor first to find Lieutenant Peary, after which the search for the Windward will be taken up. The relief expedition is under the command of Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club, who has twice before visited the arctic region.

Lieutenant Peary sailed in 1898 with a four years' leave of absence and a clearly defined plan for finding the north pole. In August, 1900, Mrs. Peary and her daughter sailed from Sidney on the Windward, one of the vessels of a second expedition which expected to join Lieutenant Peary's party. Nothing has been heard of the Windward since she left Sidney.

A Kind Hearted Woman.

Among the interesting personalities of Paris is the Baroness d'Arpent. Her hobby is devotion to homeless animals. She keeps a small corps of bicyclists constantly in search of "waifs and strays," and all so found, whether cats, dogs or other animals, are taken to enjoy her hospitality. Even the dead of their kind are not neglected. When her hired lieutenants see a dead animal by bridge or gutter, they do not throw it into the Seine or the garbage barrel, but take it to a quiet cemetery at Neuilly, where it is buried.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Cabbage as Stock Food.

The value of the cabbage as food for stock may be summed up as strong in two points—the large amount that can be grown upon an acre of soil and its succulence, which makes it a milk producing food easily digested. But it requires strong soil and good cultivation, does not keep well for winter use unless pitted where it will be frozen until spring and even then having but a short season, while if stumps and any decayed leaves are fed it is almost impossible to prevent it imparting a rank, unpleasant flavor to the milk and butter or even to the meat unless its use is discontinued two or three weeks before the slaughtering. As regards the nutritive value, Professor Johnston in "Agricultural Chemistry" estimated 70 pounds of cabbage to have about the same value as 4 pounds of oil cake, 12 pounds of pea straw, 16 pounds of clover hay, 20 pounds of meadow hay, 110 pounds of oat straw or 120 pounds of turnips. This last we think he bases upon the flat or English turnip, which are not as nutritious as the rutabaga. The value of the cabbages, as of the roots, is best found when a small amount is given along with coarse, dry fodder and a limited amount of grain.

The Swill Barrel.

The swill barrel, into which was turned all the skim milk, buttermilk and water used in washing utensils, the dishwater and the waste from the family table, both raw and cooked, and in which were allowed to stand and ferment, though probably originally established from motives of economy that all these waste materials might be utilized in pork production, has been much more a source of loss than of saving to the farmers. Cases of what were called hog cholera often resulted where these were kept, if the milk which went into them was not in much larger proportion than all else. The fermented food was not wholesome. There was often too much salt went into the barrels when salt meats were cooked, causing diarrhea, and of late years the soap and soap powders used in the dishwashing have been found to be a frequent cause of disease when used in such quantities as it was at summer hotels and boarding houses. But the loss from sick or dead hogs is not the whole. Many a hog has been killed whose flesh was no more fit for eating than it would have been if it had died of the disease which filled its entire system.

Growing Grapes.

The best training for grapes is a three or four wire trellis. The Munson system is probably the best because the most convenient. The worst plan is to train the vines on a wire netting fence, and nearly as bad is the overhead and out of reach "grape arbor." There are some varieties that do well trained to a single post and others that require no training at all, only pruning. This latter is a popular method with the slow growing varieties largely grown in Mexico. They are pruned into bush form. Farmers and novices generally have too little nerve to use the knife with sufficient freedom. To prune grapes properly the knife or shears must be used not only intelligently, but remorselessly. Some varieties are such rampant growers that the knife must be used almost continually.

The Onion Maggot.

When an onion field has become infested with the maggot, the best thing to do is to put in some other crops for a few years. But if such land has been sown in onions this year there is a natural desire to save the growing crop if there is a fair crop started. Attempts have been made to do this by the use of kerosene emulsion along the rows, and while a few think that they have succeeded, the majority report it a failure. The only success we ever found was in going over the field every day, taking out all plants that had wilted, showing that they were attacked by the maggot, and sometimes the plants each side, and destroying them by fire or by giving the plants to hens, which soon destroy them and all the maggots.

Hog Pointers.

Don't hesitate to ask your neighbor how he manages his hogs if he makes more of a success in this line of business than you do. He'll be glad to tell you if he is a gentleman, and you may get some pointers in this way that would save you years to find out.

Nothing will turn the refuse of the farm into money faster than good growthy pigs.

Try eating a corn diet only yourself for months at a time, and you will understand why hogs do not do so well without a change.

If you hogs eat unwholesome food or drink foul water, it is because they can get nothing better. It is your fault and not the hogs'.

Growing Forest Trees.

Those who desire to grow forest trees of any kind for shade or ornamental trees should remember that there is no better time to gather the seed than when it ripens upon the tree and no better time for sowing it than that when it would be self sown by falling from the tree—that is, if the tree is a native of the place where it is to be grown. If from a warmer climate, it may be necessary to start the seed under glass and protect it in some way during a few of the first winters while it is small.

In the Orchard.

An experienced fruit grower says six varieties of apples are enough for any commercial orchard. The same will apply to all other tree fruits. With a proper selection suited to the locality even fewer than six would be better than any larger number of varieties. We all plant too many kinds.

"IMMORTAL J. N."

Freely Helps Himself to Stranger's Lunch on a Train—Story of a Fine Intellect—J. N. Free Well Known in Newark—He Once Practiced Law.

The latest story of the Immortal J. N., who until a few years ago frequently visited Newark, comes from Kansas City, and is told by J. E. Kelly, of Bowling Green, who, while en route to Oklahoma, rode some distance in the car with that remarkable man. When near Kansas City, one of the passengers started to eat a lunch on which he had brought with him. What was his astonishment when the Immortal quietly seated himself beside the stranger and proceeded to help himself to the viands, partaking of the delicacies with the same gusto and vigor as if he had been invited to do so.

This remarkable man's home was at McCutchenville, which is on the line between Seneca and Wyandot counties and where one or two of his sisters still reside. He has a mania for traveling and never pays for either transportation or entertainment, though he always puts up at the best hotels. He holds a pass over the B. & O. which reads "Pass J. N. forever." Wherever he goes he makes address and the topic is always "Pressure." To the mind of the Immortal J. N., when the veil is torn aside and the pressure is lifted the millennium will have come. This is his mission in life—to "lift the pressure." Many stories are told of J. N. Free and how his misfortune came upon him, all of them tinged with romance, and the old man, with his straight, tall figure and long white hair floating over his shoulders, and blue eyes looking steadily at you—fine eyes, even though the light of reason has fled—is a romantic figure. Free, in his youth, had the physique of a Roman gladiator, combined with the grace and beauty of a prince, and a mind whose brilliance seemed to forecast a dazzling future for its possessor. In the 40s when the California gold fever was turning the heads of so many, Free saw in that land of gold his opportunity, and joined the vast throng of westward-bound travelers.

Arrived in the country where all his golden dreams were to be realized and his fortune made, he cast about him for a suitable investment. He became proprietor of a wagon train, carrying supplies to the miners in the mountains. One bright day, which was, however, to turn into a black and fatal one for J. N. Free, he started up the trail into the mountains with his load of supplies, $20,000 worth. All his fortune was invested in that load. All went well until when far up the mountain one of those sudden and furious storms burst upon him. It is told how this heroic man fought death in that lonely mountain pass for two days and won the battle when a man of less rugged constitution, or less courage would have succumbed. But, though he saved his life, all his worldly goods he lost, and his constitution was greatly undermined by the exposure and subsequent distress. He no longer had the heart to try to win a fortune from this treacherous country, which had despoiled him in the hour when she was smiling her sweetest. So J. N. Free returned to his Ohio home and decided to devote his brilliant intellect to the exposition of the law. He was a man of prepossessing appearance and it was predicted that he would make a powerful attorney. He studied hard, and at last his great opportunity to make a name for himself came. He was attorney for the defense in a murder trial. He believed his client innocent, and worked with the energy of a giant to clear his man and win his case. He pleaded his cause fervently and with such eloquence that onlookers, judge, jury, rival attorneys, were all held spellbound under the magic of his wonderful personality. Men marveled and said he would leap to the highest pinnacle of fame in his profession. After receiving the felicitations of his friends, the lawyer stepped into his private room with his client—the man he had cleared of a charge of brutal murder, believing him innocent. Just what passed in that room none ever knew, save this—that the scoundrel whom Free had cleared, either through natural depravity or some unknown reason confessed to his attorney that he was guilty of the charge. The shock was too great for the noble man, whose sensitive and upright nature could ill brook the knowledge that through his efforts such a villain had been turned loose upon society. He fell unconscious to the floor and it was only after a long illness that he was seen on the streets again. And upon his recovery it was seen that the brilliant intellect was shattered; and thus he became a wanderer, and in time acquired the title of the immortal J. N.

There are but few places in the country where J. N. is not known. During the civil war he in some manner, slipped through the lines. He wanted to see Jeff Davis and was sure if he could only get an interview with the great southern leader he could stop the war. Another man would have met death then, but J. N. was received with kindness and sent back through the lines to the land that gave him birth.

The Immortal J. N. never forgets a name or a face and stories are told of his recognizing persons he has met only in a casual way, ten or fifteen years later. There is a hint of a love story in the life of this notable man, and it is tinged with melancholy. It is reported that before leaving for the west he was engaged to be married to a beautiful McCutchenville girl, who proved faithless, for on the day he returned from California the first sound that greeted his ears was the church bells ringing for the marriage of his sweetheart to another man. And so J. N. Free, retaining his native nobility even though his mind is wrecked, passes through life striving ever to "lift the pressure," which, in all probability, will never be lifted for him until the light of eternity dispels all mists from his mind.

God bless J. N. Free a noble man if ever there was one.

BAD FALL.

Fred Roll's Bicycle Broke While Riding on Wilson Street—He Was Picked Up Unconscious.

Mr. Fred Roll met with a serious accident Thursday evening about 6:30 o'clock. He was riding his wheel on Wilson street when suddenly the front fork broke and he was thrown violently to the ground. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and Dr. J. G. Bowers hastily summoned, who attended his injuries.

It was found that his upper lip was split, a large gash cut in his head and his body badly bruised in a number of places.

He is able to be about today but is very stiff and sore.

The amount of milk received in New York daily is about one million quarts. In extremely warm weather this amount is often exceeded by one-fifth. The supply comes from points ranging from 20 to 350 miles distant from the city.

By comparing the statistics of England and Scotch universities in a given year it was found that Scotland, with a population of 3,725,000, had 6,500 university students, while England had only 6,000 students out of a population about six times as great.

PRIZES DRAWN

And the Same Thing is True of the Blanks in the Oklahoma Land Lottery.

El Reno, O. T., Aug. 2.—With a total of 13,000 envelopes taken from the wheel the great Oklahoma land lottery came to a close Thursday. Beginning Aug. 6 in each of the two districts 125 names will be called daily for 60 days for the filing of entries. The estimate is made by a government official that in each land district 1,000 of the 6,500 numbers will not be taken in the 60 days, because of homesteaders who will be disqualified or who will leave the country, believing their claims are worthless. This will leave only 5,500 persons who will make entry in prospective districts.

There will be 2,000 claims left for the wagon emigrants and others who have been in the country for months and failed to draw a number. At the end of the 60 days these persons can go immediately to their land office and file or if they settle upon a homestead in advance of any other person they can remain thereon three months before filing their entry.

Homestead speculators who registered for the sole purpose of selling their prize, if winners, are already trying to sell their claims.

The attendance at the Glasgow Exhibition since the opening numbers about one million five hundred thousand, or an average of 64,270 daily.

FOR THE CHILDREN

They Fly Straight Home.

One of our commonest and most interesting insects is the thread waisted wasp, which builds the mud nests which are so numerous in old outbuildings. The children usually call these insects "mud daubers." It is intensely interesting to watch these light, slender bodied wasps busy with their masonry. The mud of which their nests is composed is often carried for some distance, as it is essential for them to use good, stiff clay. At the edge of some pond or stream you may see these insects running about, continually twitching their glossy wings, their black backs showing a fine steel blue in the strong summer sunlight. Some of them are nearly standing on their heads as they roll sticky little balls out of the stiff mud and with their heavy jaws. With this heavy load of mud they rise slowly, and, having gained some height, they get their bearings and fly in a straight line to their nest. In this they resemble the bees. Indeed all the wasps and bees seem to have a wonderful faculty for flying directly home from any point. The expression "making a bee line" is derived from this habit of the bees and their close kindred.

When the wasp has gained the place it has selected for a building site, she puts the tiny ball of mud against the wall of the building and rubs it tight by moving her head from side to side, very rapidly. When doing this, the insect makes a low, rapid, buzzing sound. This operation is probably performed to insure the proper texture for the mud, just as we work the clay with a big wheel when making bricks. The outer surface of the nest shows a series of rings with sharply defined lines between most of them, but the interior is always extremely smooth and almost a perfect cylinder. While building her nest the insect is very careful and continually runs in and out of the tiny cylinder, examining it minutely with her "feelers." If a rough place is felt on the inner surface, she carefully flattens it out and rubs it smooth. When the cylinder is finished, the wasp goes hunting for spiders.

Newly Discovered Bird Mimicry.
M. H. Coupin, a well known naturalist, tells some curious stories in regard to the ability which certain birds possess of imitating the sounds made by other animals, as recently discovered by him.

He says that one of the most remarkable instances of this kind that ever came under his observation was that of a sparrow which imitated the stridulation of a grasshopper. The cage containing the sparrow was hung during one spring beside another cage in which were grasshoppers. At that time the bird took no notice of his neighbors, but next year, when he was again in the same society, he made several attempts to sing like the grasshoppers, and for the rest of his life, long after the grasshoppers were dead, he was wont at times to utter a sort of polyglot strain, partly made up of the notes of grasshoppers and partly of the notes of other birds.

Mr. Coupin also says that young linnets will sometimes learn the song of the nightingale instead of their own and that there are several kinds of birds in Thuringia which sing much better than the members of their own species which dwell in the Harz mountains.

The Cake That Was Burned.
There was a little cook, and she made a little cake.
She put it in the oven just to bake, bake, bake.
It was full of plums and spice
And everything that's nice.
And she said, "An hour, I reckon, it will take, take, take!"
And then that little cook went to have a little play
With a very charming cat across the way,
Way.
She forgot the cake, ah! ah!
It was burnt, well, almost black.
And I wondered what the cook's mamma would say, say, say!

The little cook ran off and confessed her tale of woe.
For to find her cake a clinder was a blow, blow, blow.
"Cheer up," her mother said.
As she stroked the golden head.
"For accidents will happen, we all know, know, know!"

She Wrote "Black Beauty."
"Black Beauty," which has reached a circulation of over 3,000,000 copies, was the legacy of a crippled woman. Six years were given to its composition, its progress being frequently delayed by physical suffering. The work was ended in 1877, and she lived just long enough to hear of its success in England. Now, this little book has traveled to the uttermost parts of the earth, entreating all its readers to look more deeply into these dumb lives, which are not far different or remote from our own.—Our Dumb Animals.

Music and Meaning.
A small Chicago boy had learned a patriotic song by hearing his teacher repeat it. He got the sound of the words, but not their meaning, and rendered it thus:

Trump, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching;
And up comrades they will come,
And as the stars are gone we will meet the angels.

DEFENDS SCHLEY

Editor Bryan Gives the Admiral Credit for the Victory at Santiago de Cuba.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 1.—In his comment on the Schley controversy, W. J. Bryan takes the side of Rear Admiral Schley, giving him credit for the victory at Santiago and declaring it a "pity that there should be any controversy that seeks to discredit a brave, honorable and modest sea fighter, who successfully led the American forces in one of the greatest, if not the greatest naval battle in the history of the world." Mr. Bryan denounces the Maclay history of the struggle, and thinks it strange that a historian finds it necessary "to resort to the lowest form of abuse in dealing with an historical character," adding: "As a clerk in the navy yards he should be displaced because of his outrageous assaults upon a man who has been the patient victim of the most remarkable series of attacks recorded in American history."

Bombarded in Vain.
Lincoln, Neb., 2.—The bombardment of the heavies with gunpowder Wednesday night in an effort to bring rain, which was conducted by W. P. Wright, was continued until 5 o'clock in the morning without producing the desired result. At that hour, when conditions were most favorable, according to Mr. Wright's theories, his 25 assistants, each firing a mortar, deserted him and he was obliged to postpone operations until Thursday afternoon, when he secured new help, and continued the bombardment through another night. Lincoln is greatly in need of rain. The temperature as recorded at a maximum of 101 Thursday and a hot south wind was blowing.

HEADACHE CHARMED.
It is the Experience of Newark People That Proves the Magical Effect of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills With Sick and Nervous Headache.

It has never come to any other medicine—never to all medicines—the abundance of Newark testimony showing the unequalled merit established by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. There is probably no case of nervous sick headache they will not cure.

Mrs. B. Bollwine of the Traveler's Hotel, corner Second and Canal streets, Newark, Ohio, says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are what they claim to be a good nerve tonic. I was induced to use them as a cure for nervousness, restlessness, nervous sick headaches and depression. The box I got at Bricker's City Drug Store worked well in each instance and cured the trouble. I feel well and right again and can recommend them highly as thoroughly reliable."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

2.13 ADVANCE

MR. TIBBS' WASHDAY.

It was a windy day. Washing days are generally windy. Mrs. Tibbs lifted her hands from the suds and felt of her crimping plate to make sure that none of them had slipped out. For the sewing society met that afternoon, and she wanted to look well, and she remarked with emphasis that "she wished to heavens that it didn't wash away like sixty on washing day." And she added as a meteorological fact that it blowed last Monday and a week ago last Monday too.

Tibbs scratched his head and gave vent to his perplexed state of mind by exclaiming: "Wah, by jimby, I don't see what a man can do."

"I'll tell you what to do," said Mrs. Tibbs, whisking the clothes wringer round with a will as she ground out the foam of suds. "You go and put up that clothesline and hang out your clothes. The wind blows enough to take a woman right off her feet."

Tibbs rose reluctantly. All men dread the domestic racket. It is trying to the masculine nerves. Tibbs put his hand to his back and volunteered the suggestion that he "guessed he was going to have another spell of lumbago into his spine."

Mrs. Tibbs was not in the slightest degree interested in Mr. Tibbs' gloomy anticipations, but went on wrestling with the clothes wringer and spattering the suds in every direction.

Mr. Tibbs put on his hat, buttoned his coat, tied his neck up in a red muffler and shivered. "Seems to me," he remarked, "that I feel a touch of that old sciatica in my hip joint."

"Now, you put that clothesline up tight," said Mrs. Tibbs, entirely ignoring his observation. "Last week the sheets dragged on the ground, and I had to rinse 'em over. Pull it tight. Mind the hooks don't come out of the posts. Be careful of it where it's tied. Put up the oldest part of the line under the pear tree for the towels and don't go to hanging out them clothes in none of your slipshod ways. Tibbs. Hang all the stockings feet down. Put Annie's flannel petticoat in the sun and hang it square. Pull them tablecloths out around the hems after you get 'em on to the line. Pin the colored things on with them oldest clothespins or they'll mildew the white things. Hang that ragged sheet under the shirts so's the holes won't show. Folks is allus staring at a clothesline. Put that embroidered nightgown of mine next to the street. Mind, now, and not set the basket so's it'll tip over."

And in the midst of it Tibbs went on with a bag of clothespins and the line in one hand and the basket balanced on the opposite hip and the water which the wringer had not squeezed out running down over his leg in little rills. There had been some snow, and then, by way of variety, there had been some rain, and then it had frozen, and the footing was exceedingly slippery and insecure. Tibbs soon found that beyond a doubt that passage of Scripture which tells us that "the feet of the wicked stand on slippery places" is true. He had great difficulty in preventing himself from going down the side hill, where the clothes posts were located, faster than he wanted. Of course the line was full of knots, which is the family trait of clotheslines, and Tibbs skinned his hands by pulling the line through them to get out the knots, and when he got mad and banged the board on which the offending line was wound against the wood pile he barked his knuckles and tore off one corner of his thumb nail.

Mrs. Tibbs and her cousin, Sally Green, who had dropped in for a morning call, were looking out of the window to see how he was getting along, and they both laughed at his mishap and said that was just like a man.

Mr. Tibbs got desperate. He took his pocketknife and severed the line in its kindest part, and, having tied up one piece of it, he began to hang up the clothes. He had his mouth full of clothespins, just as he had noticed Mrs. Tibbs always had her mouth on such occasions, and he slapped the clothes on to the line with a will.

Up flew the kitchen window, and Mrs. Tibbs stuck out her head.

"Turn that shirt 'other side up! Don't hang them sheets by the corners! Put the towels on the old line! Don't hang them flannel drawers of Tom's up by the legs! Pull out that edging on Mary Ann's skirt! Look out, there—you're stepped right into the clothes basket! What fools men are! I knowed you'd make a mess of it! I wish I'd hung 'em up myself if I'd blowed to Guinea in doing it!"

Tibbs discharged the clothespins and began to swear. It relieved his mind. He got the other piece of line and fastened one end of it to the post, then he gave a good pull on it to make sure it was tight, and it parted amidships, and the sudden let go upset Tibbs' equilibrium, and in spite of himself he went rolling down the icy hill like an empty flour barrel.

Mrs. Donovan's pet goat was enjoying a little feast on a batch of old tomato caps and some discarded oilcloth carpets half way down the hill, and when she saw Tibbs coming she quit the oilcloth and charged on him, with all her batteries open, so to speak.

It was an exciting scene, and it was made still more so by the appearance of Mrs. Donovan, with the mop, and Donovan's two dogs, barking their loudest, and they took samples of Tibbs' pantaloons.

Tibbs doesn't hang out clothes now.

GROCERS' GREAT PICNIC.

Biggest Crowd Ever on Old Fort Ground—Horse Race, Baby Show and Pie Eating Contest Were Features—Best of Order Prevailed—Results of the Contests.

The grocers' picnic given at Idlewild Park on Thursday, August 1, was a decided success in every detail. Probably never before were there as many people on the grounds as Thursday, and the remarkable thing about it is that so far as can be learned there were no accidents, no fights, no drunkenness, nor anything which marred the enjoyment of the day.

Too much credit for the successful manner in which the picnic was conducted cannot be given to the committee on arrangements, consisting of J. P. Lamb, chairman, James L. Nathan, C. L. Conrad, P. Phalen, Mr. Beadle, P. Palmer and J. C. Brennan.

Everything was free and the tremendous crowd was served with sandwiches, lemonade, pickles, and other eatables. Nobody expected such an enormous crowd and though immense stores of provisions were provided the supply was too small for the multitude.

The estimates of the number of people on the ground vary, but it is conservative to say that there were 20,000. Men who have attended fairs for the last 20 years, say that Thursday's crowd was larger than they had ever seen on the grounds. Others say that it even exceeded the crowd there in 1876, when the National G. A. R. encampment was held there.

Mr. J. F. Lingafelter, proprietor of Idlewild Park, said to the Advocate today that there were over 18,000 people on the ground Thursday.

The service rendered by the street car company was the best that could have been given under the circumstances, and there are few "kicks" being registered.

The Horse Race.

The horse race had four entries, Sutor M, owned by Joseph Moser, Billy Bryan owned by Charles Murry, Brewery Boy owned by John Kiefer, and Dan B, owned by Lewis Bolton, and driven by Ike Spees.

Billy Bryan won the race easily in straight heats, but there was a close race between Brewery Boy and Sutor M for second money, the former, however winning the place. In the third heat as the horses scored past the judges' stand, Sutor M was crowded by Dan B and the wheel on Moser's sulky broke and he was thrown violently to the ground. Luckily he was not hurt, and getting another sulky finished the race. The accident was bad looking and women screamed as the driver went down.

Summary:

Billy Bryan (Murray) 1 1 1
Brewery Boy (Keefer) 3 3 3
Sutor M (Moser) 2 2 2
Dan B (Spees) 4 4 4
Time 1:15 1/2, 1:10 1/4, 1:12 1/2.

The time made in the third heat was the fastest ever stepped on the track in a matinee race.

The Baby Show.

One of the most interesting events of the day was the baby show at three o'clock. On account of a misunderstanding there were two baby shows. Messrs. C. L. Conrad and J. P. Lamb had each donated $5 for this contest, the winner to be awarded the $10 and a second prize of ten pounds of San Marto Coffee. Messrs. Conrad and Lamb had made arrangements with Mr. Carlisle of Columbus to act as one of the judges. Mr. Carlisle supposed that he was to have charge of the contest, and when about forty babies were ranged in front of him he selected three disinterested ladies to act as judges and they awarded the first prize to Bessie Marie, the little daughter of Mr. Wm. Kinkaid, the North Fourth street painter, and the second prize to Carl Markham, the little son of Mrs. Richard Markham, of West Main street. In the meantime Messrs. Chas. Conrad and J. P. Lamb were holding another baby contest in another part of the grounds. About thirty or thirty-five babies of every type of beauty were ranged before them, and the three disinterested ladies had considerable of a task before them in making a selection. They finally awarded the first prize of $10 to Pearl, the eleven months old daughter of Mrs. Joseph Brown, and the second prize to Helen the eleven months old daughter of Mrs. Carlisle, which consisted of ten pounds of coffee.

The races were the principal features of the afternoon and were as follows: One mile bicycle race, union clerks only. First prize, hammock; second prize, pair of pedals; third prize, pair of bicycle shoes; fourth prize, pocket knife. Harry Imhoof first, Ryan second, Westbrook third, Patterson fourth. Time 2:44.

One hundred yard foot sack race—First prize, clock; second prize, pair canvas shoes; third prize, pipe. Deedem first, Starr second, Wilson third.

One half mile open bicycle race—First prize, solar lamp; second prize, gold stuck pin; third prize, pair L. A. W. bicycle shoes. Imhoof first, Ryan second, Phelan third. Time 1:16 1/2.

Quarter mile foot race, Union clerks only—First prize, gold cuff buttons; second prize, boy's crash suit; third prize, umbrella; fourth prize, three lbs. San Marto coffee from the J. M. Bour Co. Westbrook first, Patterson second, Wildman third. Time 1:8 1/4.

One mile bicycle race—First prize, bicycle lamp; second prize, bicycle shoes; third prize, razor. Smart first, More second, Schimpf third. Time 2:35 1/2.

Wheelbarrow race, eighth mile. First prize, clock; second prize, rug; third prize, three pounds of San Marto coffee from the J. M. Bour Co. Frazer first, Pry second, Somers third. Time 3:3 1/2 sec.

Combination race, man against beasts—Man to run one-fourth mile, pony and mule to go half mile. First prize, perfume stand valued at $4; second prize, basket knife; third prize, two pounds San Marto coffee from the J. M. Bour Co. Cap. Williams first, Ike Starr second.

One half mile trotting and pacing race, best two in three heats, for grocery horses, owned by retail clerks. First prize, piano lamp; second prize $3 union hat; third prize, umbrella. W. E. Fulton first and Warrington second. Time 1:20 1/2, 1:5 and 1:40.

Greased pig, valued at $8, catcher of pig to keep it. Won by Phil Shaw.

One-half mile running race, for grocery horses only and to be ridden by grocery clerks—First prize, camera, valued at $8; second prize, pair of $3 shoes; third prize, shirt valued at $1.50. Brown Tom first, Nellie C second, McKenna's mare third. Time 58 1/2 seconds.

Pie Eating.

The pie eating contest for a prize of $5, was the greatest feature of the afternoon. A table was placed on the race track in front of the grand stand on which had been placed a large number of pies of all descriptions. There were five entries, Frank Williams, Lord Berry, Leonard Summers, James Frazer and John Goff. When the starter rang the bell for the contest to begin the fun commenced. The contestants, who had their hands tied behind their backs, got down on the knees and ate pies anyway they could. Frank Williams, a colored boy, was the favorite from the start. The contestants were given a rest every two or three minutes and the eaters were cheered on by hundreds of people. When the last pie had been eaten it was found that Frank Williams had gotten away with nine pies, and that he could have eaten as many more had they been on the table. He was accordingly awarded the prize. He is still living.

Harry Rickenbaugh, a 14 year old won the $5 offered to the person climbing the greased pole. Harry managed to climb the pole like a squirrel and won the money after many had struggled for the prize and had wiped off a large part of the grease.

Mr. James Murphy acted as starter for the races, while Messrs. John Flannigan, J. J. Carroll and W. S. Weiant acted as judges. All the decisions were exceedingly fair and there was no dissatisfaction.

A DAGUERRETYPE

I was happy, oh so happy, and I hummed a gay song as I busied myself with my usual Saturday morning task of darning the stockings for the family. Now a usual thing I get lost darning, but this morning I went about it happily, for it was my eighteenth birthday and was to be a never forgotten one.

Why, do you ask? Because at dinner I was to receive my great-grandmother's old daguerreotype. What is so wonderful about that? Just wait until you have heard my story, and you will know.

My great-grandmother had been the wife of a general in the Revolutionary war, and because she desired to enter into her husband's life she became a nun. When an operation was being performed, she stood by and held the doctor's hand, and because of her bravery won for herself the title of "The Soldier's Friend." Her bright face and sunny smile was always welcomed at the bedside of every soldier, while she worked swiftly, silently and skillfully, saving many and many a life.

When the war was over, the soldiers decided to give their "friend" some token of their deep gratitude, as they knew they could never thank her with words. So they asked her for a late picture of herself, and she gave them this old daguerreotype. And on her eighteenth birthday, as it chanced to be, they presented her with this same picture in a case of gold and hung on a heavy gold chain.

My grandmother wore this around her neck until her death, and on her deathbed she put it into the hands of her eldest daughter, saying: "Put this carefully away, Mary, and when your sister Lucy is 18 years of age put it around her neck, with her mother's blessing, and tell her to wear it until her death, or should she have a daughter give it to her at the age of 18. I want my youngest daughter and her youngest daughter and so on through the family to each receive it on her eighteenth birthday."

So that is why I was so happy on that day, for it was my time to wear the locket.

At dinner my mother put the long, handsome chain around my neck, and, lifting the locket, I was about to gaze upon the face of the girl when suddenly I gave a gasp of surprise. My mother had not told me that the locket was set round with diamonds. Truly it was a handsome thing.

Then I let my eyes travel from the diamond to the beautiful oval face of my great-grandmother.

The hair curled softly above the low, white forehead, and beneath it looked forth a pair of clear blue eyes. Then came the small, straight nose and the rosybud mouth, around which played one of her rare sunny smiles. What a beauty she must have been!

(Glancing up into mother's face, I saw that she was struggling hard to keep back the tears.)

"Dear mother," I cried, "you wear it awhile longer. Surely that is the best." But she pushed me gently from her and answered: "No, dear. Only take good care of it and remember that I was very fond of it, more so because my mother looked so much like it."

Twenty-five years had passed since the day I received the beautiful old daguerreotype, and now the time had come for me to part with it. But, oh, how times can change in 25 years!

At noon Margaret came in, tired and cross, though she should have been happy on her birthday. She had not been darning stockings, but had been making calls.

Very few girls of this age and day have to darn stockings. I do not think that Margaret's white fingers, loaded with jewels, ever held a needle. When I put the chain around her neck and her eyes fastened upon the diamonds, she gave a low laugh and cried, "Oh, won't Alke 'Daze envy me that?" Then she looked up and saw the tears in my eyes. "Pshaw, mamma," she cried, "you surely are not so foolish as to cry over this. An old woman like you are too." Then she added as she carelessly dropped the locket: "By the way, I believe I promised to go to grandmamma's with you today. Well, promises are like pie crust—easily broken. I shan't be able to go."

Yes, times have greatly changed. For instance, my great-grandmother was called mamma, my grandmother many mother in ther and myself mamma. But, after all, I'm greatly blessed, for I have my dear old mother to go to, and I went to her that very day and poured into her sympathizing ears my sorrow over Margaret's coldness and my sorrow over having to part with my great-grandmother's daguerreotype—Sunny South.

He Set Down.

A Scottish divine was noted for his pointed and cutting sayings both in and out of the pulpit. One Sunday morning, just as he was about to begin the service, the hind door opened, and in walked a sprightly young playman in a brand new pair of light corded trousers. The young man was in no hurry to get to his seat, and when he did get there he stood up deliberately and slowly arranged his coat tails before sitting down. The minister looked at him from the front and as the young man was turning round to see if there was any debt on his coat observed an impudent young fellow.

"Ye can sit down noo, my man. We're a' seen yer breeks."

THE RAILROADS.

Patrick Maginley, the efficient florist for the B. & O. at this point, who has been off sick for the past two or three days, was back at his post of duty this morning.

Some days ago Wm. Kerr, a well-known employe of the B. & O. R. R. company, who resides on Summit street, while working in his potato patch, ran up against a black viper, which he killed. Mrs. Elmer Moore, who resides in that vicinity, had been in attendance at the Grocers' picnic on Thursday, and upon her return home in the evening, noticed a commotion in the bushes. Upon investigating the matter, she found that one of her chickens had been bitten by a snake, and died soon after she discovered it. As snakes always travel in pairs it is supposed that the last one killed is a mate of the one killed by Mr. Kerr, and it is likely that there is a nest of the snakes in that vicinity. A woman was engaged in splitting kindling wood, when she discovered a snake under a shingle, the species of which she did not know.

B. & O. baggage car No. 381, arrived in Newark this morning on train No. 14, and was attached to train 102 and was taken to Zanesville, where it will be repaired. This is the car that was dynamited by train robbers about 30 miles from Chicago, on train No. 7. The car is badly wrecked, every window being broken and battered. The car was evidently struck on the outside by the explosive, as the veneering is torn off the door and part of one side. The force of the explosion on the inside of the car must have been terrific, but luckily there was no one on the inside at the time.

DRUMMER BOY OF SHILOH

Lieut. Colonel John Clem Visits His Boyhood Home Here in Newark--Returns From Porto Rico and Will Go to San Antonio--Talks of the Island's Affairs.

"The Drummer Boy of Shiloh." Johnny Clem, now Lieutenant Colonel John L. Clem of the Quartermaster's department of the United States army, surprised his Newark friends Thursday afternoon by unexpectedly visiting the city to visit his sister, Mrs. Adams of Eleventh street. Col. Clem was born and brought up in Newark. Col. Clem made a flying trip to Newark. He left at 7:10 this morning for Columbus and at 2:20 this afternoon started for Texas. He took time this morning to call upon his old friend, Senator W. E. Miller before leaving town.

The Colonel is just home from the island of Porto Rico, where he has been engaged for some time in the Quartermaster's department of the United States army. He has been transferred to San Antonio, taking a Colonel's detail.

"Porto Rico," says Colonel Clem, will be a most valuable addition to the possessions of the United States. It is a garden spot and under the influence of Yankee push and progressiveness, is bound to have a great future. The people are fast learning our ways and are now in far better condition than they ever were before. And the beauty of the situation is that they realize this fact. They are well satisfied as a rule with American sovereignty, for they are beginning to feel the material benefits of being allied with Uncle Sam. Their school system is building up, their public departments are being organized and they are in a certain way to be prosperous and happy. The present generation will not reap the full benefit of these changed conditions for they have fixed in ways that they learned under Spanish rule, but the generation that is now growing up and that is still in a condition to accept new ideas and new methods will make Porto Rico a wonderful place.

On account of his knowledge of the island and the islanders, acquired through the intimate relations of the Quartermaster's department, Colonel Clem, when in Washington was invited to an interview with President McKinley, who questioned him for an hour about the people and island of Porto Rico.

Hearing Next Friday.

The hearing of the jurisdictional questions in the Probate Court of the case of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction Co against Emily Armstrong et al, is set for hearing next Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Porto Rico. Colonel Clem has a famous war record. He was the original "Drummer Boy of Shiloh" and Chickamauga. When little more than an infant he escaped from home to the union army and succeeded after many difficulties in getting himself upon the rolls as a drummer boy. At Chickamauga, his drum thrown aside, he had taken a musket and cartridge box from a dead soldier and was proudly marching across the field in the vicinity of Snodgrass hill when a mounted confederate colonel spurred up to him and shouted: "Surrender, you d—d little Yankee."

The little Yank shot the confederate colonel dead. For this he was made a lance sergeant and was assigned to duty at General Thomas' headquarters. After the war he tried to get into West Point, but was declared to be under size. General Grant was informed of this. He knew the little fellow well, and remarked: "He was big enough to carry a gun and fight and I guess he's big enough to carry a commission."

So the general got him a commission and had him assigned to the school of military instruction at Fortress Monroe. Losing, the historian, says of Colonel Clem that he was undoubtedly the youngest soldier who ever bore arms in battle.

Mr. E. S. Wilson, former owner and editor of the Ironton Republican, now marshal of Porto Rico, accompanied Colonel Clem to the Governor's office to pay their respects to Governor Nash, says the Columbus Dispatch of Thursday. Mr. Wilson says Porto Rico has an almost ideal climate. He had suffered more with the intense heat since he had been in Ohio than he did in Porto Rico, and he did not leave the island until July. There is a continual ocean breeze that tempers the heat of the sun.

"The hope of the island is in the children," said Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson intimated that Dr. Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, who was appointed, commissioner of education for the island, is dissatisfied with his work and will undoubtedly resign at the end of the year.

THE WEATHER.

Prediction for Newark and vicinity: showers tonight and probably Saturday; warmer tonight. FOR THE CHILDREN

The Nests of Doves.

Not long ago a gentleman of this city who hunts a great deal remarked that in some parts of the west the doves nest almost entirely upon the ground. He spoke of it as though the doves were gradually changing their habit of nesting. I became interested and looked the matter up and found that, taking the United States as a whole, the doves nest very largely upon the ground. Just in this locality nests upon the ground are extremely rare. Indeed, I have only found one in all the years I have been noticing our birds. I found that nest last summer in the middle of a large field of ripe wheat. I simply happened upon this nest, for as I passed over it with the binder the bird fluttered out of the way and tried to lead me away by feigning lameness.

After some search I found the nest unharmed by the machine. It was simply a few bits of straw and weeds pulled together around the edge of a hoof print in the hard ground. The eggs were not placed upon the straw and weeds, but upon the bare ground, the straw and weeds simply bounding the edge of the nest. The vast majority of the nests I have found have been in old apple orchards, usually very near the ground. The nest is generally placed on a large horizontal limb when not secure in a heavy crotch where the main limbs branch. It is merely a light platform of twigs and seems so slight that it is a miracle that the eggs stay in it at all.

Last summer I found a nest where two rails crossed in an old "worm fence." A great mass of five leaf ivy overhung this nest from a "stake rail," and the bird seemed to realize that the shadow was a great protection, for you could almost put your hand upon her before she would leave her eggs.—James Speed in Louisville Post.

Saved His Father's Life.

A Shickshinny (Pa.) boy, aged 11 years, recently saved his father's life by his remarkable presence of mind and his ability to put into practice a physiology lesson which he had learned at school. This boy is Loran De Witt Briggs. He began attending the public schools at 6 years of age and has proved himself an apt pupil. The newspaper of this boy's native town recently told an incident that shows of what material he is made: "Loran Briggs, the young son of Forest W. Briggs, proved himself a hero Tuesday evening. His father is recovering from typhoid fever and was just able to walk about the room. He struck a match to light a lamp, but did not notice that part of the head fire inside his dressing gown. The inflammable material was ignited in a moment. Loran discovered the flames and cried out: 'Papa, you are afire! Lie down, quick.' Mr. Briggs was by this time enveloped in flames, but he obeyed his son. In fact, he was too weak to do anything for himself. Loran seized a rug and, placing it over his father, soon smothered the fire. Had it not been for his prompt action and presence of mind his father would have been horribly if not fatally burned. "When asked afterward why he thought of this way of putting out the fire, Loran said he had learned it from the study of physiology at school, a chapter of his textbook being devoted to directions in cases of accident."

Careful Prescription Work

Have you ever thought what that means? Suppose your tailor would make a suit from shoddy cloth. The clothes wouldn't hang or wear well even though cut correctly. So in prescriptions good service means more than being careful about weights and measures. It means carefulness long before your prescription is brought to us. It means that we have been careful as to purity when buying chemicals, and have exercised care in making all those liquids medicines which we keep ready for use on our shelves and in our closets. We are careful in every step of prescription work.

HAVE A TOOTH

It's been troubling you this long while. Perhaps it's partly decayed. A slight cold starts it aching furiously. The tooth next to it may be becoming decayed because of its decaying neighbor. The best thing for you to do is to let me examine your teeth. If they need filling I will tell you so. If it be best to extract or if a cap will save the tooth I will tell you that. Whatever your teeth need I will do it for you—do it painlessly, too. This is something I guarantee.
